1953 YEAR BOOK

PUBLISHED BY
THE SENIOR CLASS OF
JACKSON HIGH SCHOOL,
JACKSON, TENNESSEE

Foreword

For better or worse here is your Annual. We the class of 1953 bequeath it to you with the hope that as you turn its pages, memories of our days together at Jackson High School will return to you. With it goes our best wishes for the classes that follow us. Bon voyage!

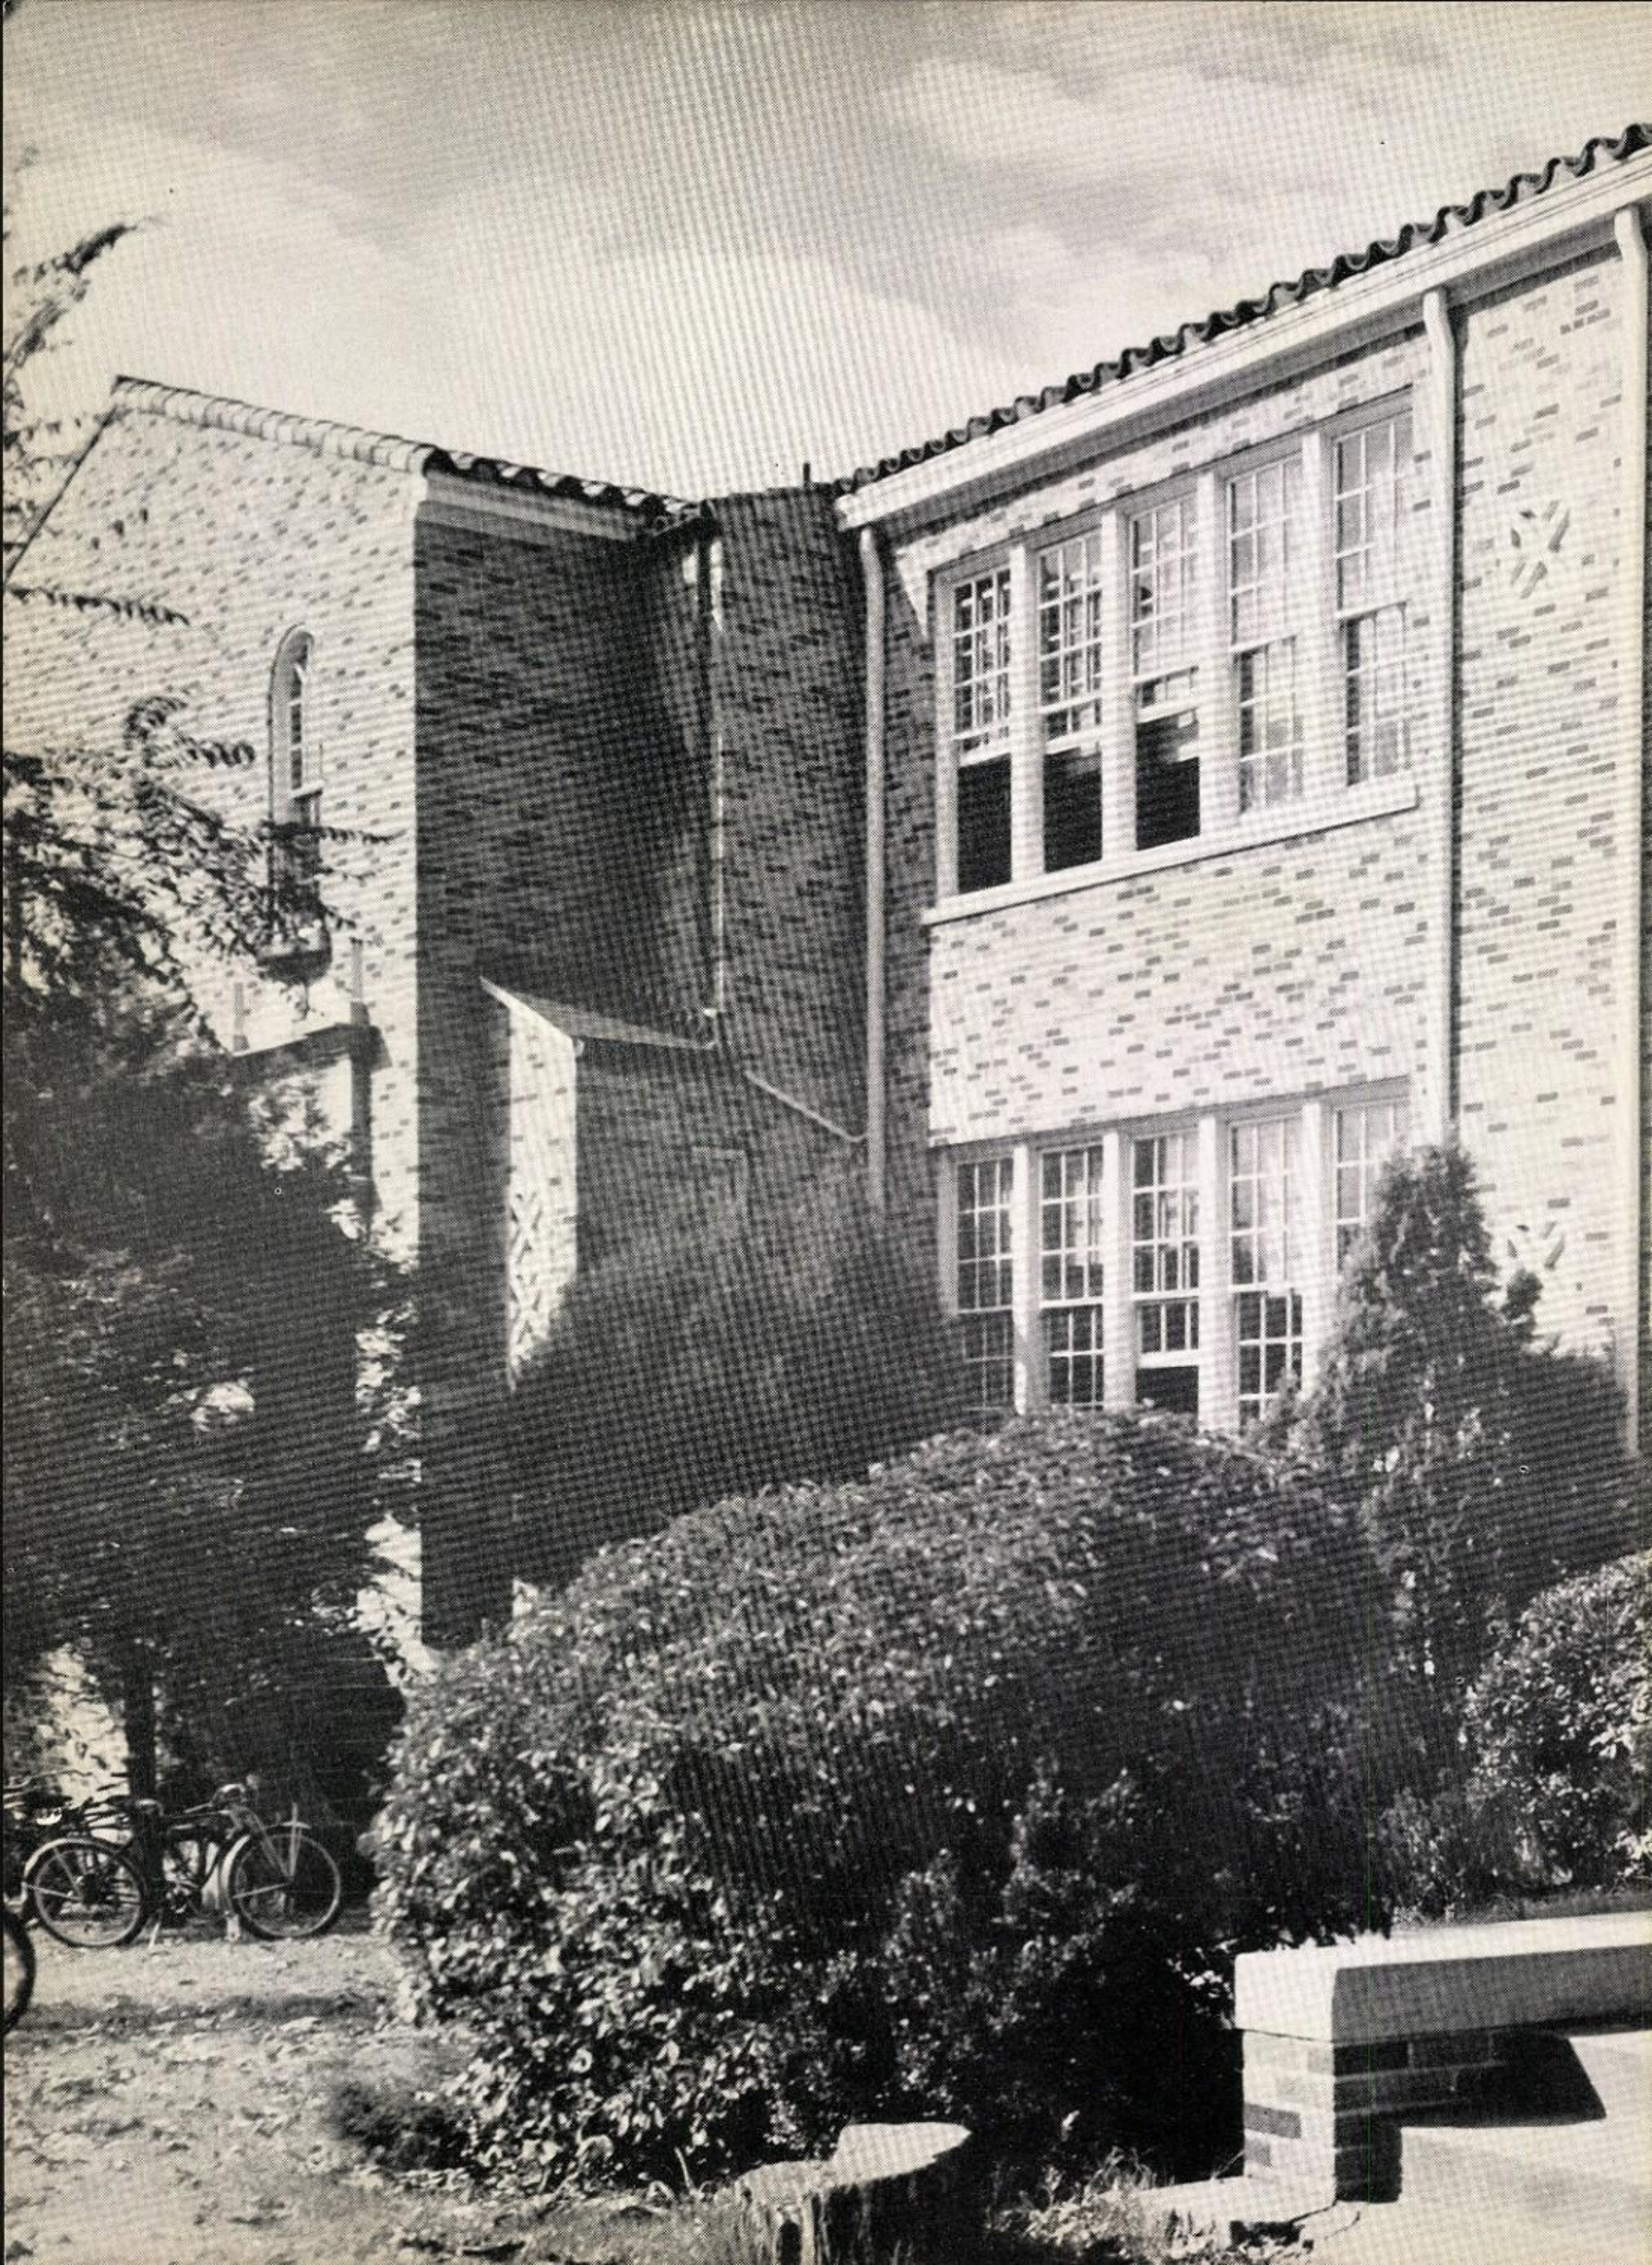

Onward!!

Onward, pushing onward every day,
Never stop to look back o'er mistaken ways
Think only of the future. Always with a smile
Never let trouble your soul beguile.

Everyone is human and all will make mistakes,
But let that not mar the path you want to take
Choose it first then follow right on through
Caring not what others may to you say or do.

No matter how dark or dreary your life
may seem to be
Never give up hope, never let your joys flee
Always think onward with your thoughts
above
And your life will always be filled with hope and love.

The Death of a Day

By Ila Shaw

Sitting alone in a playful, carefree day
I felt despondent. Why tread this earthly way?
It seemed one was born just for death. Why?
And then it happened that I saw a day die.

Only a while before, only that morn,
I had seen the innocent, breathless day born;
Seen it dance gaily over the drowsy earth;
Seen it touch each thing, enticing all to mirth.

I saw the ball, the golden ball of the sun,
Shot from the eastern musket, mighty Apollo's gun,
Arch, sink true, far in the west,
Into, out of sight, the laughing day's breast.

I saw the day waver, felt its breeze-born sigh,
Saw it in distraction fling its toys to the sky;
Pink roses, green herbs, daisies white and gold,
Bluebirds, violets stained their hues across the whole.

Slowly, slowly the healthy red blood
Of the day swept over in cardinal flood;
The little birds in bursting, full-voiced song
Beseeched the sinking day its life to prolong.

O Lovely World

By Patricia Sansing

O lovely world!
Emerging from the touch of perfect love,
Thou breath of God's creation, move
Within man's cold unfeeling heart
Those passions which now slumber in his breast.
Bring forth from all our souls now void of faith
That positive assurance that never knows defeat.
Let him, while breathing in thy pure, fresh air,
Forget all ugliness, concern and despair.

I hear thy soothing voice in every sound
Not made by human hand
Its echo is the love that answers back
From every soul once torn with sorrow black
Now mended with a wondrous hope new-found.

I come to thee when weary burden-bound.
I look, I breathe, I feel; and peace which equals any task undone
Flows o'er my soul and breathes new life in me.

D. A. R. Contest

The Forty-Seventh Annual Oratorical Contest sponsored by the Jackson-Madison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held on May 12, 1953, in the High School Auditorium.

Programme

I. "MARCH OF THE STEEL MEN".....Charles S. Belsterling

This March was written for and dedicated to the Nationally Famous Joliet Township High School Band by one of the band's former members, who is now a very prominent composer of Band Literature.

II. "LINCOLN LYRIC OVERTURE".....Newell H. Long

"Lincoln Lyric Overture" is based on melodies which Carl Sandburg, in his "American Songbag," has associated with the life and times of Abraham Lincoln. These melodies, in the order of their appearance are:

- "The Brown Girl"
- "Hey, Betty Martin"
- "Old Brass Wagon"
- "Hoosen Johnny"
- "Old Abe Lincoln Came Out Of The Wilderness"

III. "WAGGERY FOR WOODWINDS".....Harold Walters

This number in the popular vein portrays the various sections of the woodwind family of the band. Their qualities of tone are very well portrayed in the various cadenzas featuring these Instruments.

Pass by the house of most any National Honor Society member late at night and you'll probably notice a light on. What are they doing? Why, of course, they're burning that midnight oil so they can keep up their 88 average, which is necessary to maintain membership. They are also kept busy with the many activities the N. H. S. undertakes each year. One of their main projects is collecting baskets for needy families at Christmas and Thanksgiving.

A proud group of boys and girls in Jackson High is the Junior Red Cross. Why are they so proud? Why, because they are busy helping people everywhere. They send gift boxes overseas twice a year and also theirs is a very busy group making tray favors for the hospital each month. They work very hard and deserve high recognition for the wonderful results they achieve.

Vice-President	JO ANN SHEPHERD
Secretary	ADELE POOLE
Treasurer	SHERRY ONLY

They've stitched! They've ripped! They've cooked! They've scrubbed!

These Future Homemakers of America have had a busy and interesting year as they have learned to stretch the inflated dollars by sewing for themselves and planning and preparing appetizing but inexpensive meals.

The Future Homemakers of America was established in order to teach the young girls how to be able to take care of themselves more easily in the home and community. This is a very busy group of girls. At Christmas, they were busily occupied with making stuffed toys for little children and getting up baskets for needy families.

First Row: Jo Ann Shepherd, Pat Smith, Gayle Bowman, Dorris Burgess, Timmy Johnson, Genee Camp, Naida Blackwell, Theodora Burdette, Beverly Roote, Kay Horton, Frances Wallace, Mary Louise Eaves.

This chapter too, is an offspring of the Hodge Tri-Hi-Y. It is named for their sponsor, Miss Margaret Winter. The chapter is made up entirely of Junior girls, who like the members, in their sister chapters, are engaged in many activities.

Baucom Tri-Hi-Y

This is one of the two new chapters added this year. The club is composed of sophomores and juniors. This chapter is named for their sponsor, Miss Adrian Baucom. These girls are living up to their creed to create, maintain, and extend throughout home, school and community, high standards of Christian character.

D. E. Club

Behold! Before you are the future leading merchants and business men and women of our city. These enterprising students leave school every day at 12:00 and go to the various stores and businesses of the city to learn the tricks of trade. Every year there is a state D. E. Convention where some members of the D. E. Clubs represent Jackson High School and learn even more points in selling and business.

Kick that ball! Win that race! If you see athletic boys walking around school with a monstrous head, don't be alarmed. They aren't getting the big head. It's just that holding all the knowledge it takes to be a member of the N.A.S.S., and all the ball knowledge they must have, crowds their brains so that it naturally grows larger. Once a year the beautiful girls of the N.A.S.S. adorn their stunning evening dresses for their annual beauty review. They also engage the faculty in that thrilling basketball game that is the talk of the school for months. Yes, the N.A.S.S. is a very busy organization working hard every minute.

Project your voice! More expression! How many times does Miss Ray have to say these words to play groups? The Dramatic Club was organized in 1951 to give more entertainment to Jackson High and also to learn a little more about what goes on backstage in each production. During the year they presented "Rest Assured," "House of Vengeance," and "Chain Reaction" before most enthusiastic audiences.

Band Royalty

This year for the first time in the history of Jackson High School, the members of the band chose three girls to represent them as their band royalty. The queen and her maids were crowned at the Jackson-Paris football game. Carolyn Cherry was crowned queen, and Nancy Estes and Ann Andrews served as her maids.

Band

For the fifth consecutive time our band brought home the first place honors of the Strawberry Festival. Besides this they have won other honors, including the placement of five members in the all state band. They perform many difficult feats during the half-time at the football games. Yes, we should truly be proud of our band.

STUDENT COUNCIL QUESTION STUDIED THROUGH FILM

A subject of much interest around Jackson High during recent years has been Student Council. This year the faculty, noting the readiness of the students, are putting forth a great deal of effort with the aid of many capable seniors to lay the foundation for such a council in Jackson High. Traces of these efforts were evident last year in that many home rooms were already looking into the matter by way of home room programs.

This year extensive work is being done in the individual home rooms. This is especially true in senior home rooms. Every Monday programs are being presented to further knowledge about Student Council among Jackson students. If sufficient interest is displayed by students, representatives from Jackson will attend the State Convention of Student Councils in Memphis.

Highlighting a recent assembly program was the film "Student Council in Your School," capably explained by Miss Emma Williams. "Student Council in Your School" was about a high school that might be found anywhere in the country—even in Jackson. The problems of the students in this school in many cases were very similar to some of ours here. For instance, they had the problems of selling tickets for ball games; and for the recent Lexington vs. Jackson game, 15 out of 60 tickets were sold by Jackson High students.

These boys and girls decided that it was up to them to settle their problems. They found out that there were two ways to get information on Student Council. The first and most important is self-education through literature obtained from the National Council of Student Council. Secondly, one can arrange to visit a nearby school and observe their methods of carrying on their council meetings.

Another important fact learned from this film was the different types of officer groups that can be chosen to preside over the student body. These were the Club type, Officer type, or a combination of these two types. The Club type includes the officers of the various clubs of the school and the class officers; the Officer type is composed of the officers from the home rooms and class officers. The third type consists of club officers and home room officers.

Jackson High Students Predict Presidential and City Election

The students of Jackson High seem to have followed national trends in the recent Presidential election. Two hundred and forty-five members of the student body voted Republican and "won with Ike." The remaining 194 Democrats "stayed with Stevenson."

In the gubernatorial race, all but nineteen students voted for Clement, the Democratic candidate; and Gore carried all but 25 votes in the Senatorial race.

On the voting machine issue, Jackson High students polled 719 for and 263 against, voting down by a far less majority than Madison County.

Likewise, the Sunday movie question was defeated by a far smaller margin than in the community.

The election was sponsored by the social studies classes. In the morning assembly, Ed Zehr and Claran Boyd made speeches for the Republican and Democratic candidates, respectively. There was a most enthusiastic reception from the student body for both candidates.

Voting in the four wards established in the school was carried on in a brisk, business-like manner. Students had previously registered just as they would have in a national election. Judges and clerks were on duty as the students filled out the printed ballots, which were prepared by the Pentecost-Thomas Mimeographing Company which was temporarily established in the west end of Miss Styers' office.

Bradley Sorenson, Chairman; Doris Ann Jordan, Secretary; Claran Boyd, Commissioner of Elections; and the capable members of the Election Commission worked out all the details and ran off the '52 election in an efficient manner.
